Community Investments

Agility has invested in more than 1,000 community projects in 75 countries around the world. Some examples on the African continent include:

Promoting education in South Sudan

Agility’s bulk fuel transport business has been working in South Sudan for years, moving fuel by barge to support aid organizations. The company developed strong ties with the local community in the process; first donating three classrooms to a primary school in the town of Juba, and then funding the construction of a new primary school outside of the main town, that allows 400 students a year to get an education. Agility’s bulk fuel transport business also awarded 85 scholarships to help pay for the cost of education.

Supporting relief efforts in South Sudan

Agility mobilized four of its experienced logisticians to South Sudan in response to a request by long standing partner International Medical Corps, to help manage the movement of relief supplies to crowded refugee camps cut off by heavy rains. Working on the ground for almost two months, Agility supported logistics operations reaching some 500,000 refugees.

Supporting an orphanage in Sierra Leone

Agility employees have been raising funds to support the All as One Orphanage in Sierra Leone for more than five years. The orphanage looks after 100 children. Agility has helped transport equipment and educational material to Sierra Leone, as well as support the running costs of the orphanage.

Providing access to clean water and better schools in Egypt

Agility installed three water treatment stations in a small town in rural Upper Egypt, ensuring 500 children now have improved access to clean water.

Agility employees also helped refurbish three schools catering to more than 500 students. Employees raised funds and volunteered their time to help in the renovation, allowing kids in the community to learn in a brighter, cleaner, and better-equipped educational environment.

Bringing smiles to children in Malawi, Zambia, Rwanda, and Angola

Agility has transported footballs reaching more than 10,000 children on behalf of the Great Football Giveaway, a non-profit organization that brings hope to kids by giving them footballs to play with. Agility has a five-year partnership with the Great Football Giveaway, and has transported balls, nets, pumps, and other sports equipment to Malawi, Zambia, Rwanda and Angola.
